

mistra
future
fashion

Design possibilities in regenerated cellulose materials

Miriam Ribul

The aim of the short term scientific mission is to map possible leads and developments of scenarios for tangible prototypes for future design applications of regenerated cellulose fibres.

Scoping, reflection, mapping and development of the final design are informed by hands-on applications of the research ideas in the lab and in the design studio.

